The Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies contributes to the national interest by helping black Americans participate fully and effectively in the political and economic life of our society.

A nonpartisan, nonprofit institution founded in 1970, the Joint Center uses research and information dissemination to accomplish three objectives: to improve the socioeconomic status of black Americans; to increase their influence in the political and public policy arenas; and to facilitate the building of coalitions across racial lines.

PREFACE

The 1991 edition of Black Elected Officials: A National Roster documents the continued growth in the election of blacks to public office. As of January 31, 1991, 7,480 blacks held elective offices in the United States, an increase of 1.5 percent from last year's 7,370. Black elected officials (BEOs) still account for less than 2.0 percent of all elected officials in the United States. This year's 1.5 percent growth of BEOs is the lowest experienced since 1970.

During this period, however, substantial increases were made in high positions—the U.S. Congress and state legislatures—primarily by female BEOs. Black women accounted for 27 percent or 2,053 of the 7,480 elected officials. Three of the five new members of the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC) are black women. In the state senates, the number of black women rose from 18 to 23 (27.7 percent increase) and in the state houses, the number jumped from 78 to 98 (25.6 percent increase).

Salient factors that contribute to the election of more blacks to office include higher black voter turnouts, a willingness of white voters to elect black candidates, and a vigilance by civil rights organizations to make certain that individual states abide by the Voting Rights Act.

Black Elected Officials: A National Roster was prepared under the supervision of Dr. Milton Morris, vice president for research, and under the guidance of Dr. David Bositis, senior research associate. Research analysts Ruth Brooks and Maurice Carney managed the collection and tabulation of data with the aid of project assistant Alfred Baltimore. We would like to extend our sincere appreciation to Jerome A. Gray, field director of the Alabama Democratic Conference, and Mr. Joe Franklin, director of research of the office of the secretary of state in Arkansas, who provided invaluable information about his home state. Editing and production were supervised by Nancy Stella, director of communications. Senior editor Marc DeFrancis copy-edited and proofread the text. Secretary Merlinda C. Novicio assisted with word processing. We greatly acknowledge the valuable contributions of all these individuals.

BLACK ELECTED OFFICIALS IN 1991: AN OVERVIEW

The number of black elected officials (BEOs) continued to grow between 1990 and 1991. As of January 31, 1991, there were 7,480 BEOs, a 1.5 percentage point increase over the 1990 figure of 7,370. This modest growth is consistent with the trend for recent years. Increases occurred at the federal and state levels as well as among judicial and law enforcement officials. However, for the first time in nearly a decade, the number of blacks holding elective county offices did not rise, and the number holding education offices actually fell. (See table 1.) As in previous years, the Southern states contributed the majority of BEOs, while Idaho, Montana, and North Dakota still have no BEOs, and Hawaii lost its only BEO in 1991.

Female BEOs

Since 1970, the number of black women elected to office has grown rapidly. In 1970, one in 12 BEOs was a woman, while in 1991 that ratio was one in four. Previously, women BEOs were concentrated at the local level, primarily on school boards and city councils. Today they are making their presence increasingly felt in the federal and state legislatures and as chief executives of large cities. Thus, not only have the disparities between women and men lessened, but more women are winning election to higher positions than in prior years.

The number of women BEOs increased from 1,950 in 1990 to 2,053 in 1991, a 5.3 percentage point increase, with especially dramatic growth at the federal and state levels. The number of black women in Congress increased by three, as Cardiss Collins (D-Ill.) was joined by Maxine Waters (D-Calif.), Eleanor Holmes Norton (D-D.C.), and Barbara-Rose Collins (D-Mich.).

Female BEOs are an increasing presence in the state legislatures, where they now account for 27 percent of all black state legislators. Black women currently serve as chairs or vice-chairs of several state legislative committees. In California, for example, State Senator Diane Watson chairs the Committee on Health and Human Services, and State Representative Gwen Moore chairs the Committee on Utilities and Commerce.

In 1990, 78 black females represented their constituents in state houses and 18 in state senates. There are now 98 black women serving as state representatives and 23 as state senators, increases of 25.6 and 27.8 percent, respectively. Georgia and Arkansas had the largest increases among black women in their state houses, adding five and three new black women representatives, respectively. Three states that had no black female state legislators in 1990—Alaska, Washington, and West Virginia—now each have one, while Rhode Island has gone from none to two black female state legislators in the past year.

Sharon Pratt Kelly of Washington, D.C., joined Carrie Perry of Hartford as a mayor of a major city. Mayor Kelly, who has been active in local and national Democratic party politics for more than 20 years, won the mayoral seat on her platform of "cleaning house" and a promise of new leadership and direction for the District of Columbia.

Also noteworthy was the election of Stephanie Tubbs-Jones, who became the first black woman ever to head the prosecutor's office in Cuyahoga County, which encompasses Cleveland, Ohio.

Black female BEOs have made compelling political gains during the past two decades. Yet, their numbers at the beginning of this period were small, and black women are still far from serving in equal numbers with their male counterparts.

Geographic Distribution of BEOs

As in previous years, the distribution of BEOs generally reflects the distribution of the black population. The South, with 52.8 percent of the nation's black population, also has the largest number of BEOs—5,034 (67.6 percent of the national total). The Midwest has 19.1 percent of the black population and 17.7 percent of all BEOs (1,318). The Northeast has 18.7 percent of the population but only 10 percent of BEOs (744). The West, with 9.4 percent of the black population, has only 4.7 percent of all BEOs (346). The four regions, together with the U.S. Virgin Islands' 35 BEOs, yield a nationwide total of 7,480. (Table 5.)

The 10 states with the largest number of black elected officials this year are: Alabama, with 706; Mississippi, 690; Louisiana, 551; Georgia, 511; Illinois, 476; North Carolina, 443; South Carolina, 405; Arkansas, 350; Michigan, 305; and Texas, 298. In four states, BEOs comprise more than 10 percent of all elected officials: Alabama, 16.4 percent; Mississippi, 14.0 percent; Louisiana, 11.1 percent; and South Carolina, 11.0 percent. (Table 2.)

Federal

The number of black members of Congress has continued to grow. Last year 24 (5.5 percent of the total) federal legislators were BEOs, and this year the number is 26 (6.0 percent). Not included in the 26 are two statehood senators and one statehood representative who were elected to represent the District of Columbia. No blacks have served in the U.S. Senate since Edward Brooke (R-Mass.) was defeated in 1979.

Although the U.S. House of Representatives saw a net increase of only two black members, there were actually five new black members elected in 1990. Three replaced retiring CBC members and two came from congressional districts formerly represented by white members. Gary Franks (R-Conn.), elected in Connecticut's 5th congressional district, is his state's first black congressman and the only black Republican in the Congress. In fact, Franks is the first black Republican in the House since Oscar DePriest (R-Ill.) retired in 1935. William Jefferson (D-La.), who was elected representative from Louisiana's 2nd congressional district, is the first black congressman from Louisiana since Reconstruction.

Maxine Waters was elected from California's 29th congressional district to succeed fellow Democrat Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Calif.), who retired after 28 years in Congress. Eleanor Holmes Norton (D-D.C.) succeeded Walter E. Fauntroy as Washington's delegate at-large, and Barbara-Rose Collins (D-Mich.) succeeded George W. Crockett as representative from Michigan's 13th congressional district. Fauntroy and Crockett, both Democrats, had served 19 and 10 years, respectively, in Congress. Eighteen of the 26 current black members of Congress come from predominantly black districts, while three represent majority-white districts and the remaining five represent mixed districts of black, white, and Hispanic constituents. Redistricting in 1992 is likely to produce six to eight additional predominantly black congressional districts.

State

The number of black state legislators (BSLs) increased from 406 in 1990 to 436 in 1991*—96 senators and 340 representatives. The 1991 figures show a substantial rise over 1990, with particularly noteworthy increases in several states. In Arkansas the number of black state legislators doubled from six to 12; Georgia's BSLs increased from 30 to 35, and Maryland's grew from 27 to 31. Currently, blacks constitute about 6 percent of all state legislators. The five states with the highest percentage of blacks in their state legislatures are Alabama, with 17.1 percent; Maryland, 16.5 percent; Georgia, 14.8 percent; Louisiana, 13.2 percent; and Mississippi, 12.6 percent. (Table 10.) These numbers are likely to grow very substantially by November 1992 as a result of redistricting. Two Southern states that have completed redistricting, Louisiana and Virginia, have already added 16 and seven new black districts, respectively.

*The 12 senators from the U.S. Virgin Islands are not included in this total.

In addition to their numerical gains, blacks also made notable gains in leadership positions within state legislatures. In North Carolina, Representative Daniel T. Blue from Raleigh became the first black speaker of the house. Rep. Blue is only the fourth black since Reconstruction to serve as speaker in a state house. His three predecessors were Willie Lewis Brown, Jr., elected December, 1980, and still speaker of California's assembly; K. Leroy Irvis of Pennsylvania, who was elected speaker twice (in 1977 and again in 1982) and served in that capacity from 1977 to 1978 and from 1982 until his retirement from the house in 1988; and S. Howard Woodson of New Jersey elected speaker from 1974 to 1976.

Eight blacks hold statewide elective offices, including two Democratic governors: L. Douglas Wilder of Virginia and Alexander Farrelly of the U.S. Virgin Islands. In Illinois, former state comptroller Roland W. Burris was elected attorney general. Burris is the first black to win this position in any state and the highest ranking Democrat in the Illinois government. Other statewide officeholders elected in 1991 include Oklahoma's corporation commissioner, J. C. Watts, a Republican, who is the first black ever elected to statewide public office in Oklahoma. In Indiana, Dwayne M. Brown won the office of clerk of the supreme court and appellate courts, becoming that state's first black elected to statewide office.

County

At the county level, the number of BEOs remained at 810, the same number as in 1990. As with BEOs generally, county-level BEOs are concentrated in the South and Midwest; these two regions together account for 95.6 percent of all county-level BEOs.

Although the overall number of blacks elected at the county level this year did not change, some advances were made. In Montgomery County, Maryland, (suburban Washington, D.C.) county council members elected Democrat Isiah Leggett to a oneyear term as president, making him the first black ever elected to that post.

Municipal

The number of BEOs at the municipal level increased slightly since 1990, growing from 3,676 to 3,683, a 0.3 percentage point increase. The majority of municipal-level BEOs are members of municipal governing bodies such as city or parish councils.

The overall number of black mayors has increased by one—from 313 in 1990 to 314 in 1991. Approximately 70 percent of black mayors are in the South. Thirty-three black mayors serve in cities with populations of 50,000 and over, half of which have majority black populations. There are five new black mayors of cities of 50,000 or more: Sharon Pratt Kelly, Washington, D.C.; Elihu Harris, Oakland, California; Walter T. Kenney, Richmond, Virginia; Michael Steels, Irvington, New Jersey; and Coy Payne of Chandler, Arizona.

Judicial and Law Enforcement

The number of blacks elected to judicial and law enforcement offices has increased substantially since 1990 when 769 BEOs held such posts. By 1991, that figure showed a 10.1 percentage point increase, making the total 847. This increase occurred only among judicial officeholders, whose numbers rose from 719 to 797. The number of BEOs holding law enforcement posts remained constant at the 1990 figure of 50.

Education

In the area of education, the number of black elected officials is 1,638—21.9 percent of the BEO total—making this the second largest category of BEOs, exceeded only by the number of municipal officeholders. This represents a decrease of 17 officials since 1990, the first decline in seven years. The number of elected black school superintendents remains at 14, most of whom are located in the South.

Conclusion

The number of black elected officials continues to grow, albeit slowly. Two current developments offer the prospect for accelerated growth in BEO numbers in the future. First, several federal court cases involving challenges to the way that judges are elected could have significant impact on black candidates' chances for election. In North Carolina, for example, 11 new majority black judicial districts were created as a result of a federal lawsuit, Alexander v. Martin, in which Kelly Alexander, a black voter, contested the manner in which superior court judges were elected in his state. Similar challenges to judicial election methods are underway in federal courts in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, and Texas.

The second, and equally important, factor that will contribute to future growth is redistricting. The post-Census redrawing of state legislative districts can be expected to increase the number of blacks elected to these major offices. The immediate future, therefore, holds great promise for renewed growth in the ranks of black elected officials.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The Joint Center conducts its annual census of black elected officials (BEOs) by identifying newly elected blacks and verifying the listings that appear in the Roster.

The Roster is organized by state (including the territories). Within each of these sections, entries are grouped according to category of office, beginning with federal seats and followed by state and local seats. Overlapping does occur (e.g., educational offices include positions at the state, county, and municipal levels), but the pattern of overlap is consistent. Each entry contains the official's name, title, jurisdiction, and preferred mailing address, as well as the date on which the term of office expires. Each state section is preceded by a title page that lists basic population data and information on governmental organizations within the state.

The Roster contains the names of black elected officials sworn into office prior to February 1, 1991. The term "elected officials" refers mainly to those elected by popular vote to governmental office. Mayors elected by city councils are also included. Elective offices included are all those authorized by the U.S. Constitution, by state law, or by special state or municipal provision. In some instances, persons appointed to fill vacancies on elected bodies are included, along with persons who may face election in order to retain their posts (e.g., in certain judgeships). Not included are those elected to the leadership of political parties, such as party committee members, state or district leaders, and ward or precinct captains.

About 20 black elected officials hold two offices simultaneously. In order to get an accurate count of the number of elected offices held by blacks, both offices should be counted toward the total number of BEOs in such cases. In the roster listing, an asterisk (*) beside an entry indicates a person holding two posts.

Some individuals are identified as officers of the elective bodies on which they serve. For example, many elected school board members are identified as president, vice president, secretary, or treasurer of their board, despite the fact that they were not elected by voters in that particular capacity. In all cases where elected officials are identified as officers of elected bodies, the expiration date provided applies only to their elective term.

Data Collection. The Roster research aims to identify every BEO in the United States, including the Virgin Islands. Data are collected through telephone interviews with the BEOs themselves, with the governmental bodies on which they serve, with organizations or caucuses of BEOs, and with state and local boards of election. A national newspaper clipping service is employed as well. Finally, all state secretaries are asked to review, approve, and correct the relevant state-page data.

The total and voting-age population, detailed on the state pages, are 1990 figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau. The black total and voting-age population figures also come from 1990 U.S. census figures. Data from the National Committee for an Effective Congress (Washington, D.C.) were used to detail the racial composition of the congressional districts represented by blacks.

ALABAMA

706 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Alabama is 4,040,587; the black population is 1,020,705, or 25 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,985,000; and the black voting age population is 661,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,166,000; the number of black registered voters is 432,000.

Federal: Alabama has 7 congressional districts. Blacks constitute a substantial percentage of the populations of the First District (Mobile), 30 percent; the Second District (Montgomery), 32 percent; the Third District (Anniston), 28 percent; the Sixth District (Birmingham), 37 percent; and the Seventh District (Tuscaloosa), 33 percent.

State: The Alabama legislature convenes in Montgomery. The 35 members of the Senate and the 105 members of the House of Representatives are all elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

County: There are 67 counties in Alabama and 357 members of county governing bodies, including 331 county commissioners and 26 probate judges who serve as chairmen of the county commissions. Counties are governed by commissions consisting of 3 to 7 members. Most commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are a total of 436 municipal governments in Alabama and 2,113 governing board members. A minimum population of 300 is usually required for incorporation. Most municipal elections are held every 4 years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Alabama, like most states, has a hierarchy of courts consisting of a supreme court, intermediate appellate courts, trial courts of general jurisdiction, and district and municipal courts. The appellate court system consists of the court of civil appeals and the court of criminal appeals. There are 9 supreme court judges, 3 civil appeals court judges, and 5 criminal appeals court judges. The trial court system consists of circuit, district, and municipal courts. There are 39 circuit courts and 124 circuit court judges, and 67 district courts and 91 district court judges. There are approximately 278 municipal courts and 68 probate courts. All judges except municipal court judges are elected to serve 6-year terms. Municipal court judges serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 130 school districts in Alabama—67 county school systems and 63 city school systems. All are administratively and fiscally independent. There are 391 elected school officials. City school boards ordinarily consist of 5 members appointed by the city council or commission for staggered 5-year terms. Most county school boards have 5 members elected at large for 6-year terms. County school board members are elected during the general election of state and county officers.

Special Districts: Alabama has 390 special districts or authorities. None of the 1,636 special district board members is elected.

ALASKA

3 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Alaska is 550,043; the black population is 22,451, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 337,000; and the black voting age population is 14,000. The total number of registered voters is 239,000. The number of black registered voters is 9,000

Federal: The entire state of Alaska constitutes one congressional district, which is 3 percent black.

State: The Alaska legislature is composed of 20 members of the Senate, elected from 14 districts, and 40 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 27 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Juneau.

County: Alaska has 13 borough governments. Ten are administered by borough assemblies, which perform functions similar to those of county governments in other states. Three are unified municipalities, where both the county- and city-level functions are in one unit. All areas that lie outside of organized boroughs or city-borough governments constitute a single unorganized borough, which is administered by the state legislature. Depending upon the population size of a borough, between 5 and 17 assembly members serve on a governing board. Most assembly members are elected by district and serve 3-year terms.

Municipal: There are 161 city governments in Alaska and approximately 1,100 governing board members. Three city-borough governments—Anchorage, Juneau, and Sitka—are classified as municipalities. Most members of municipal governing bodies serve 3- to 4-year terms.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 64 courts in Alaska and 103 judicial officials—42 judges and 61 magistrates. There are 5 supreme court justices and 29 superior court judges, serving 10- and 6-year terms, respectively. Upon recommendation of the Alaska Judicial Council, judges are appointed by the governor to serve a term. Upon expiration of the initial term, judges may run unopposed for retention. No law enforcement officials are elected in Alaska.

School Districts: The Alaska Board of Education governs the educational system. Members of the state board are appointed by the governor and approved by the legislature. Alaska has 55 school districts, each of which has a locally elected board of 5 to 11 members, who serve staggered 3-year terms. School board elections are held every October. In addition, most of the 23 districts in the unorganized borough may have an optional advisory committee. These advisory groups may be appointed or elected within the borough.

ARIZONA

17 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Arizona is 3,665,228; the black population is 110,524, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,590,000; and the black voting age population is 56,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,457,000; the number of black registered voters is 36,000.

Federal: Arizona has 5 congressional districts. The Second District (Phoenix-Yuma) has the largest percentage of black residents, 6 percent.

State: The Arizona legislature convenes in Phoenix. The 30 members of the Senate are elected from single-member districts and the 60 members of the House of Representatives are elected from 30 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: The 15 counties in Arizona are governed by 57 supervisors, serving on county boards. Each board has either 3 or 5 members, who are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 80 municipalities and 540 members of governing boards. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 1,500. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 176 courts in Arizona and approximately 304 judgeships. There are 5 supreme court justices, 18 appeals court judges, and 95 superior court judges. Supreme court justices and court of appeals judges are elected in nonpartisan races for 6-year terms. Judges for courts of general and limited jurisdiction are elected for 4-year terms. Other judges are selected as mandated by local charters. Elected sheriffs and constables serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 223 school districts in Arizona. Public schools are administratively and fiscally independent, with the exception of accommodation schools, which provide education in sparsely populated areas and are under the jurisdiction of county school superintendents. Local school boards have 3 or 5 members, depending on the type of district. Board members are elected for 4-year terms. School board elections are held on general election days. Nine community college districts come under the authority of the state Board of Directors for Community Colleges. Three state universities are administered by a Board of Regents.

Special Districts: There are 292 special districts or authorities. Board members are usually elected.

ARKANSAS

350 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Arkansas is 2,350,735; the black population is 373,912, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,755,000, and the black voting age population is 195,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,070,000; the number of black registered voters is 99,000.

Federal: Arkansas has 4 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Pine Bluff) has the largest percentage of black residents, 27 percent. The First District (Jonesboro) is 18 percent black, and the Second District (Little Rock) is 16 percent black.

State: The Arkansas General Assembly, which convenes in Little Rock, consists of 35 members of the Senate, elected from single-member districts, and 100 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 100 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: The 75 counties of Arkansas are served by 767 governing board members, known as justices of the peace, who sit on quorum or levying courts in each county. The courts vary in size form 9 to 15 members, depending on the population of the county. All members of the quorum courts are elected from single-member districts for 2-year terms.

Municipal: There are 482 cities and towns, and 2,607 municipal governing board members in Arkansas. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 413 courts and approximately 303 judgeships in Arkansas. The 7 supreme court and 6 appeals court judges serve 8-year terms. The 30 chancery and 32 circuit court judges serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. All other judges are elected for 2-year terms. There are 75 elected sheriffs and coroners, who serve 2-year terms. Constables, who are elected from townships, also serve 2-year terms. Marshals are authorized for all cities with at least 500 residents.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

School Districts: The state's 333 school districts are administratively and fiscally independent units of government under the direction of locally elected boards. The boards vary in size from 5 to 8 members. The 1,879 school board members in the state serve staggered terms of either 3, 4, or 5 years, with the length of term determined by the size of the board. Elections are held annually on the second Tuesday in March.

Special Districts: There are approximately 505 special districts in Arkansas, which perform a wide variety of services. Most special districts perform a single function, such as conservation, mosquito abatement, fire protection, or water distribution.

CALIFORNIA

259 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of California is 29,760,021; the black population is 2,208,803, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 21,289,000, and the black voting age population is 1,173,000. The total number of registered voters is 11,660,000; the number of black registered voters is 731,000.

Federal: California has 45 congressional districts. The districts with the largest percentage of black residents are the Twenty-ninth (Los Angeles-Downey), 34 percent black; the Twenty-eighth (Los Angeles-Inglewood), 33 percent; the Thirty-first (Compton-Carson), 29 percent; and the Eighth (Oakland-Berkeley), 25 percent. Seven other districts have black populations of at least 10 percent.

State: The California legislature convenes in Sacramento. The 40 members of the Senate and the 80 members of the Assembly are all elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; assembly members serve 2-year terms.

County: All of California's 58 counties are governed by 5-member boards of supervisors elected by district to 4-year terms, except the city-county of San Francisco, which has an 11-member board of supervisors.

Municipal: California's 441 municipalities are governed by about 1,884 board members, all elected in nonpartisan elections. Municipalities are designated as cities or towns depending on the size of their populations. The city-county of San Francisco has a consolidated government. Most elections are held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 233 courts and 1,383 judgeships in California. Supreme court and court of appeals judges are initially appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Commission on Judicial Appointments. The appointees serve until the earliest gubernatorial election. They are then subject to a nonpartisan retention election for a 12-year term. The 7 supreme court judges and 77 appeals court judges serve 12-year terms. The 724 superior court judges serve 6-year terms. Municipal court judges and justices of the peace are elected on nonpartisan ballots. There are 58 elected sheriffs and 51 elected coroners. Seven county coroners are appointed. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms. Constables, elected by justices-of-the-peace, serve 6-year terms. There are also 3 elected commissioners for each police protection district.

School Districts: There are 1,028 school districts with approximately 5,100 school board members. All of these officials are elected to 4-year terms of office.

Special Districts: There are 2,506 special districts and authorities.

COLORADO

17 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Colorado is 3,294,394; the black population is 133,146, or 4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,376,000; and the black voting age population is 93,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,555,000; the number of black registered voters is 44,000.

Federal: Colorado has 6 congressional districts. The First District (Denver) has the largest percentage of black residents, 13 percent.

State: The Colorado General Assembly comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 65 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Denver.

County: Sixty-two counties (excluding the city-county of Denver) in Colorado are governed by 192 commissioners, who serve 4-year terms. Most of the counties elect 3 commissioners at large; however, El Paso County elects 5 commissioners by district, and Weld and Pitken counties, which are home-rule counties, elect 5 commissioners under their respective charters. The city-county of Denver, a consolidated governmental unit which is classified as a municipality, has a 5-member appointed commission.

Municipal: There are 267 towns and cities in Colorado. Most municipalities are governed by a 7-member board. City councils serve as the governing bodies for cities, and boards of trustees are the governing bodies for towns. The city-county of Denver is considered a municipality but also functions as a county. Elected officials serve 2- or 4-year terms. City elections are held in November of odd-numbered years, and town elections are held in April of even-numbered years. Denver holds its regular election at 4-year intervals in May.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Colorado has 22 judicial districts, 220 courts, and approximately 429 judgeships. There are 7 supreme court judges, 10 appeals court judges, and 109 district court judges. Judges are appointed to 2-year terms by the governor. After judges' 2-year terms expire they may run for election of full terms of 4, 6, or 10 years. Municipal court judges are appointed by the municipal governing body; they may serve on a part-time basis. There are 63 sheriffs and coroners, who serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: The 177 school districts in Colorado are independently governed by elected school boards. Total school board membership is approximately 985.

Special Districts: There are at least 735 municipal service special districts in Colorado.

CONNECTICUT

67 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Connecticut is 3,287,116; the black population is 274,264, or 8 percent of the total; the total voting age population is 2,459,000; and the black voting age population is 152,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,594,000; the number of black registered voters is 63,000.

Federal: Connecticut has 6 congressional districts. Blacks make up 14 percent of the First District (Hartford), 12 percent of the Third District (New Haven), and 14 percent of the Fourth District (Stamford-Bridgeport).

State: The Connecticut General Assembly comprises 36 seats in the Senate and 151 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and the Senate are elected from single-member districts. They serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Hartford.

County: Although county boundaries are retained for election and judicial purposes, there are no organized county governments.

Municipal: There are 169 municipalities in Connecticut and over 50 percent of them operate under the selectmen-town meeting form of government. The mayor-council and council-manager forms of government are also popular in Connecticut municipalities.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Connecticut has 187 courts and 274 judgeships. There are 7 supreme court judges, 139 superior court judges, and 9 appellate court judges. Judges of the supreme and superior courts are appointed by the General Assembly upon nomination by the governor and serve 8-year terms. Probate judges are elected on partisan ballots and serve 4-year terms. There are

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

8 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms. There are 1 to 7 elected constables per township serving one- or 2-year terms.

School Districts: Most of the 165 school districts are administratively independent and fiscally dependent on local boards of finance. There are 1,312 school board members, who serve 2- or 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

Special Districts: There are 281 special districts and authorities in Connecticut. Board members are either elected or appointed depending upon the district or authority.

DELAWARE

26 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Delaware is 666,168; the black population is 112,460, or 17 percent of the total; total voting age population is 508,000; and the black voting age population is 116,000. The total number of registered voters is 272,000; the number of black registered voters is 43,000.

Federal: The state of Delaware constitutes one congressional district, which is 17 percent black.

State: Delaware's General Assembly convenes in Dover. There are 21 seats in the Senate and 41 seats in the House of Representatives: all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 3 counties in Delaware and 19 governing board members, who serve 2- and 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 56 incorporated cities and towns in Delaware, all chartered by the state legislature. There are 334 members of governing boards.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 91 judgeships in Delaware. Five judges serve on the supreme court, 13 on the superior court, 4 on the court of chancery, 5 on the court of common pleas, 13 on the family court, 3 on the municipal court in Wilmington, and 54 on the justice-of-the-peace courts. All judges are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state Senate. With the exception of justices of the peace, all judges serve 12-year terms. Sheriffs are elected to 2-year terms in each county except New Castle, where sheriffs are elected to 4-year terms. Many of the municipalities have alderman courts with judges appointed by the city or town council. The state department of justice is administered by the attorney general and is the top law enforcement agency in Delaware.

School Districts: There are 19 local school districts, governed by 119 school board members. Sixteen school boards have elected officials, who serve 5-year terms. The governor appoints 3 board members for each vocational-technical school district.

Special Districts: Delaware has a total of 139 special districts and authorities. Board members of the park districts in New Castle County are the state's only elected special district officers.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

209 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of the District of Columbia is 606,900; the black population is 399,604, or 66 percent of the total; total voting age population is 427,000; and the black voting age population is 263,000. The total number of voters is 266,000; the number of black registered voters is 163,000.

Federal: The District of Columbia constitutes one congressional district, which is 66 percent black and elects one nonvoting delegate to the House of Representatives.

Municipal: The District of Columbia is classified as a municipality; however, it also performs state and county functions. There is an elected city council, with 5 members and a chairperson elected at large. An additional 8 members are elected from wards. Council elections are held in even-numbered years, and members serve 4-year terms. An elected mayor also serves a 4-year term. The 323 nonpartisan members of the 37 advisory neighborhood commissions are elected from single-member districts and serve 2-year terms on citizen advisory boards.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 2 courts and 60 judgeships in the District of Columbia. Judges who serve on the court of appeals (9) and the superior court (51) are nominated by the president of the United States and approved by the U.S. Senate; they serve 15-year terms. One judge in each court is designated by the president of the United States to serve as chief judge for a term of 4 years or until a successor is appointed.

School Districts: The District of Columbia has 190 schools and an 11-members board of education, which is elected on a nonpartisan basis. There is one school district in Washington, D.C. The board is classified as an agency of the municipal government rather than as an independent governing body. Three board members are elected at large, and the other are elected from wards. Board members serve 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

Special Districts: There is one independent special district. Board members are appointed.

FLORIDA

184 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Florida is 12,937,936; the black population is 1,759,534, or 14 percent of the total; total voting age population is 9,920,000; and the black voting age population is 1,191,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,760,000; the number of black registered voters is 635,000.

Federal: Florida has 19 congressional districts. Twelve districts are at least 10 percent black. The districts with the largest percentage of black residents are the Seventeenth (North Miami), 38 percent; the Third (Jacksonville), 28 percent; the Fifteenth (Fort Lauderdale), 26 percent; and the Second (Tallahassee), 22 percent.

State: The Florida legislature comprises 40 members of the Senate and 120 members of the House of Representatives, each elected from a single district. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Tallahassee.

County: There are 67 counties and 359 governing board members. Commissioners are elected by district except in Volusia County, where councilmembers are elected at large, and in Duval, Hillsborough, and Leon counties, where councilmembers are elected at large and by district. Most county boards have 5 members, who serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: Florida has 391 municipalities, which include cities, towns, and villages, and approximately 2,000 governing board members. Municipalities are established by special acts of the state legislature or by general law. Under general law, the minimum population for incorporation is 1,500 persons. The city of Jackson and the county of Duval have consolidated to form a municipal government. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The 7 supreme court judges, 46 district court judges and 362 circuit court judges are elected on nonpartisan ballots for 6-year terms. County judges are elected for 4-year terms. As of January 3, 1977, all municipal courts were abolished. There are approximately 92 courts, with 608 judges. Florida has 67 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 67 local school districts in Florida, and 28 community college districts. A total of 350 elected school board members govern the school districts.

Special Districts: A total of 417 special districts and authorities provide a variety of services including erosion prevention, navigation, library, hospital, and lighting services.

511 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Georgia is 6,478,216; the black population is 1,746,565, or 27 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,620,000; and the black voting age population is 1,397,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,653,000; the number of black registered voters is 795,000.

Federal: Georgia has 10 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Atlanta) is 67 percent black. Four other districts have black populations of at least 30 percent: the First District (Savannah), 32 percent; the Second District (Albany), 37 percent; the Third District (Columbus), 35 percent; and the Eighth District (Macon), 36 percent. The Tenth District (Augusta) has a black population of 23 percent.

State: The General Assembly comprises 56 seats in the Senate, all filled from single-member districts, and 180 seats in the House of Representatives, all filled from 156 districts. Members of the General Assembly serve 2-year terms and convene in Atlanta.

County: There are 158 counties in Georgia and 675 county commissioners. Governing board members are elected either by district or at large as determined by the county, and most serve 4-year terms. Governing boards usually consist of 3 to 5 members.

Municipal: The 556 municipalities in Georgia are classified as towns and cities. There are 2,780 governing board members. A minimum population of 200 is required for municipal incorporation. The city of Columbus and the county of Muscogee are consolidated to form one municipality. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are approximately 865 full-time judgeship positions in Georgia. Most of the judges are elected on a nonpartisan ballot. The 7 supreme court and 9 court of appeals judges serve 6-year terms. The 131 superior court judges serve 4-year terms. There is a probate court in each county, with a probate judge who serves a 4-year term. Some magistrates and judges of other county and municipal courts are appointed. There are 159 sheriffs, 156 coroners, and 424 magistrates.

School Districts: There are 186 districts governed by 1,110 school board members; 814 board members are elected to serve 4-year terms and 296 are appointed. There are 28 independent school systems and 33 univerisities.

Special Districts: There are 390 special districts and authorities.

HAWAII

0 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Hawaii is 1,108,229; the black population is 27,195, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 790,000; and the black voting age population is 15,000. The total number of registered voters is 452,000; the number of black registered voters is 2,000.

Federal: Hawaii has 2 congressional districts. Blacks comprise 2 percent of the population of District Two (Oahu-Outer Islands) and 3 percent of District One (Honolulu).

State: There are 25 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 25 districts. The House of Representatives has 51 seats; members are elected from 51 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Honolulu.

County: There are three counties with organized county governments: Hawaii, Kauai, and Maui. Kalawao County includes the Kalaupapa Settlement and is governed by the state department of health. Oahu County, known as the city-county of Honolulu, is classified as a municipality. There are 34 members of county governing bodies (9 councilmembers each from Honolulu, Hawaii, and Maui counties, and 7 from Kauai County), who serve either 2- or 4-year terms, depending upon the county.

Municipal: The combined city-county of Honolulu is Hawaii's only organized municipality. There are 9 members on the city council. Each member is elected from a separate city council district and serves a 4-year term. In 1980, the Office of Hawaiian Affairs was established to oversee the utilization of and proceeds from lands held in public trust for the Hawaiian people. The office also advocates better conditions for native Hawaiians. A special election is held every 2 years to elect the 9 members of the Board of Trustees of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. This election is restricted to registered voters of Hawaiian ancestry.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Hawaii has 65 judicial positions. Five supreme court, 24 circuit court, and 3 intermediate appellate court judges are appointed by the governor, with the consent of the Senate, for 10-year terms. There are 22 district court judges and 11 district family court judges, who are appointed to 6-year terms by the chief judge of the state supreme court. The prosecuting attorneys of the counties of Hawaii and Kauai and the city-county of Honolulu are the only elected law enforcement officials of the state.

School Districts: All educational services are provided by the state government. The Board of Education is made up of 13 members elected at-large from 2 school board districts—all members elected at-large from the First School Board District (city-county of Honolulu), and 3 members elected at large from the Second School Board District (counties of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai.)

Special Districts: There are 15 special districts; only soil and water conservation districts count as governments, however.

IDAHO

0 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Idaho is 1,006,749; the black population is 3,370, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 709,000; and the black voting age population is 1,000. The total number of registered voters is 452,000.

Federal: Idaho has 2 congressional districts. Both districts have black populations of less than one percent.

State: The Idaho legislature comprises 42 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 33 districts, and 84 seats in the House of Representatives, whose members are elected from 33 districts. Members of the legislature, which convenes in Boise, serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 44 counties in Idaho and 132 county commissioners, all of whom are elected at large. All boards of commissioners have 3 members. One members serves a 4-year term, and the other 2 members serve 2-year terms.

Municipal: The 198 municipalities in Idaho are all classified as cities, although the terms town and village are used occasionally. A total of 871 councilmembers govern the cities. Each council consists of 4 or 6 members, who serve 2-year terms. Elections are held in odd-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 45 courts and 32 judgeships in Idaho. The 5 supreme court and 31 district court judges are elected in nonpartisan elections for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Three intermediate appellate court judges serve 6-year terms. District court magistrates are appointed by a commission and serve 4-year terms. After initial appointment, the magistrates stand for election. There are 44 elected sheriffs and coroners, serving 4- and 2-year terms, respectively. Precinct committee members are elected from each precinct and serve 2-year terms.

School Districts: There are 116 school districts in Idaho and 576 elected board members.

Special Districts: There are 659 special districts or authorities in Idaho.

ILLINOIS

Population: The total population of Illinois is 11,430,602; the black population is 1,694,273, or 15 percent of the total; total voting age population is 8,559,000; and the black voting age population is 1,239,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,616,000; the number of black registered voters is 893,000.

Federal: Illinois has 22 congressional districts. The First and Second Districts (South Side Chicago and Lake Calumet Chicago) have the largest black populations, 93 and 76 percent, respectively. Another district with a sizable black population, the Seventh District (West Side Chicago), has a 66 percent black population.

State: The General Assembly comprises 59 senators and 119 representatives, elected from single-member districts. Senate members serve staggered terms of 2 or 4 years. House members serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Springfield.

County: There are 102 counties and approximately 1,667 elected board members. Eighty-five counties have organized township governments, and the others are governed by boards of commissioners. The membership of county governing bodies ranges from 3 to 29 officials. Township board members serve 4 years; commission members serve 3 years. Special county provisions require that 10 of the 16 commissioners serving Cook County come from Chicago.

Municipal: There are 1,279 municipalities and 8,050 governing board members in Illinois. In addition, there are 1,434 townships, each of which is administered by a supervisor and a board of trustees. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years. The minimum population required for municipal incorporation is 2,500 persons living within 4 square miles. The minimum for village population incorporation is 200 persons living within 2 square miles.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 7 supreme court judges, 34 judges serving 5 appellate court districts, and 780 judges and associate judges serving 22 judicial circuits. Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are elected for 10-year terms, judges of the circuit court for 6-year terms, and associate judges of the circuit court for 4-year terms. Judges are first elected to office in partisan elections. Before their terms of office expire, supreme court, appellate court, and circuit court judges who have been elected to office may make declaration to succeed themselves. Retention in office for another term requires an affirmative vote of three-fifths of the electors voting on the question. A separate ballot without party designation is constitutionally required. Illinois has 102 sheriffs and 102 coroners who serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 997 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. With the exception of Chicago, all school districts are governed by 6,800 school board members elected to 4-year terms. In Chicago, the school board members are appointed by the mayor and serve 5-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 2,602 special districts or authorities.

INDIANA

74 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Indiana is 5,544,159; the black population is 432,092, or 8 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,093,000; and the black voting age population is 370,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,494,000; the number of black registered voters is 218,000.

Federal: Indiana has 10 congressional districts. The First District (Gary) is 25 percent black. The Tenth District (Indianapolis) is 30 percent black.

State: The Indiana legislature has 50 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 100 members of the House of Representatives are elected from 77 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Indianapolis.

County: There are 92 counties and 276 county commissioners. County commissioners have 3 members, who serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 566 municipalities, including 115 cities and 451 towns, governed by 2,270 councilmembers. In addition, there are 1,008 civil townships, each of which is administered by a township trustee and an advisory board. Municipal elections are held every 4 years, in odd-numbered years. The minimum requirement for incorporation is 50 property owners.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 336 courts and 354 judgeships in Indiana. Serving in elective office are 5 supreme court judges, 12 appellate court judges, 89 circuit court judges, 104 superior court judges, 57 county court judges, and 102 other court judges. Supreme and appellate court judges are first appointed by the governor to serve 2-year terms. Thereafter, they run for election on a retention ballot to serve 10-year terms. Circuit and superior court judges serve 6-year terms, and county court judges serve 4-year terms. Additionally, each county elects one sheriff and one coroner, to serve 4-year terms. Only Marion County (Indianapolis) elects constables. They serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 304 school districts in Indiana and 1,683 school board members. Board members usually serve 4-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 897 special districts, administered by 431 elected board members. Other board members are appointed.

IOWA

12 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Iowa is 2,776,755; the black population is 48,090, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,068,000; and the black voting age population is 39,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,395,000; the number of black registered voters is 27,000.

Federal: Iowa has 6 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Des Moines) contains the largest percentage of black residents, 3 percent.

State: The Iowa General Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives; each member of the General Assembly is elected from a single-member district. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Des Moines.

County: There are 99 counties and 365 elected county supervisors in Iowa. Supervisors serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 953 municipalities in Iowa governed by 4,857 elected councilmembers. Most councilmembers serve 4-year terms. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Iowa has 153 judges serving in 99 courts. There are 9 judges of the supreme court, serving 8-year terms; 6 judges of the appeals court, serving 6-year terms; and 100 judges and 39 associate judges of the district courts, and 14 senior judges, serving 4-year terms. With the exception of district associate judges, all judges are nominiated by a judicial nominating commission and appointed by the governor to serve until the next general election, usually within one to 2 years. At the end of their terms, judges must run for retention. There are also 165 magistrates and 9 senior judges serving in lower courts. One sheriff is elected for each county.

School Districts: The 436 public school districts are independent administratively and fiscally. Approximately 2,352 elected members serve on the local school boards. There are 15 area community colleges and vocational education institutions; these area school systems, which are independent administratively and fiscally, have 124 elected board members.

Special Districts: The 334 special districts and authorities in Iowa are administered by 1,148 elected board members.

20 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Kansas is 2,477,574; the black population is 143,076, or 6 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,802,000; and the black voting age population is 90,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,156,000; the number of black registered voters is 43,000.

Federal: Kansas has 5 congressional districts. The Third District (Kansas City), with a black population of 9 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents. It is followed by the Second (Topeka) and Fourth (Wichita) Districts, which have black populations of 7 percent.

State: The Kansas legislature convenes in Topeka. There are 40 seats in the Senate and 125 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of the Senate and House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 105 counties; the 321 governing board members are elected by district for 4-year terms. All board members serve on boards of commissioners, generally composed of 3 members. Three counties (Coffee, Johnson, and Sedgewick) have 5-member boards of commissioners.

Municipal: There are 627 municipalities and 3,128 governing body members. Forms of government vary widely among municipalities. However, most governing body members serve 2- or 4-year terms. Kansas also has 1,416 townships, but they have very limited functions. Most duties are performed by the counties. The principal administrators of the townships are trustees, who serve 4-year terms. A minimum population of 300 is required for municipal incorporation.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: In 1977, Kansas implemented a court unification plan. The state judiciary is now composed of the supreme court (with 1 chief judge and 6 other judges), the court of appeals, and 31 judicial court districts. There are 286 judgeships in the district courts. Supreme and appellate court judges are initially appointed by the governor, for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. At the end of their terms, judges must be retained by the voters. District court judges serve 4-year terms. One sheriff is authorized for each county, but Riley County has combined city and county law enforcement and elects no sheriff. One marshal is authorized for each city with 14,999 inhabitants or less. There are 29 coroners.

School Districts: In Kansas, 303 school districts are governed by about 2,121 elected school board members. The school districts are administratively and financially independent. Board members usually serve 4-year terms. There are 19 community college service areas. School board elections are held the first Tuesday in April.

Special Districts: There are 1,599 special districts governed by 6,097 board members, who serve one- to 4-year terms.

KENTUCKY

71 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Kentucky is 3,685,296; the black population is 262,907, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,684,000; and the black voting age population is 150,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,623,000; the number of black registered voters is 66,000.

Federal: Kentucky has 7 congressional districts. The Third District (Louisville) has the largest percentage of black residents, 22 percent.

State: The Kentucky General Assembly comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Kentucky General Assembly convenes in Frankfort.

County: There are 119 counties in Kentucky. The city-county of Fayette is counted as an urban county government. Of the 731 board members that govern the counties, 120 are elected at large, 48 are elected at large with district residence requirements, and 563 are elected by district. Fiscal courts, as the boards are called, usually have 3 to 8 members, who serve 4-year terms. The members of the fiscal courts include magistrates or commissioners and the county judge-executive.

Municipal: There are 425 municipalities, which include towns and 6 classes of cities, categorized by size. Over 3,000 board members serve on governing bodies for 2 or 4 years. Communities must have 300 inhabitants to incorporate.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The supreme court, court of appeals, district court, and circuit court make up the court of justice. The 7 supreme court judges and the 14 judges from the court of appeals are elected from 7 appellate districts. There are 91 circuit court judges elected from 56 judicial circuits. Appellate and circuit court judges serve 8-year terms. There are 124 district court judges elected from 57 judicial districts to serve 4-year terms.

Police judges are elected in first-, second-, and third-class cities. Beginning in January 1978, all lower courts and the judicial functions of county judges were abolished. The lower courts were replaced by district courts, with 113 judges, elected from 57 judicial districts, serving 4-year terms. Constables are elected in counties with a population of 250,000 or more. Counties with fewer than 250,000 inhabitants elect justices of the peace (magistrates), who also serve on the fiscal court. One constable is authorized for each justice-of-the-peace district.

School Districts: There are 178 school districts, including 120 county and 58 city school districts. All members of the school boards are elected. The 915 school board members serve 4-year terms.

Special Districts: Kentucky has 517 special districts governed by 1,047 board members.

LOUISIANA

551 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Louisiana is 4,219,973; the black population is 1,299,281, or 31 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,001,000; and the black voting age population is 810,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,196,000; the number of black registered voters is 583,000.

Federal: Louisiana has 8 congressional districts. Seven districts have black populations that exceed 20 percent. The two districts with the largest black populations are the Second District (New Orleans-Jefferson), 66 percent, and the Eighth District (Alexandria), 38 percent.

State: The Louisiana legislature, which convenes in Baton Rouge, comprises 39 seats in the Senate and 105 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and Senate are elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

County: There are 64 parishes (counties) in Louisiana and about 654 governing body members. In all except 13 parishes, police juries serve as the governing body. Police jury members are elected from districts or wards within the parishes, and serve 4-year terms. The parishes of Caddo, Iberia, Jefferson, Lafourche, Plaquemines, St. Charles, St. James, St. John the Baptist, and St. Mary are governed by councils or commissions. The city of New Orleans and the parish of Orleans are governed jointly by a city council. The city of Baton Rouge and the parish of East Baton Rouge are governed jointly by the metro council. The city of Houma and the parish of Terrebonne are governed jointly by the parish council.

Municipal: There are 301 municipalities and 1,833 governing board members in Louisiana. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 300 in most places. Depending on size, incorporated communities are classified as cities, towns, or villages. Most municipalities hold elections every 4 years, in even-numbered years. Some municipalities are governed by a charter, drawn up by the citizens and approved by the voters.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The 247 judges in Louisiana are elected in nonpartisan elections, and terms of office vary among the 98 courts. The 7 supreme court judges and 48 appeals court judges serve 10-year terms. The 192 district court judges serve 6-year terms. The supreme court is the highest court, followed by the circuit court of appeals, various district courts, juvenile and family courts, and municipal courts. Each of the 64 parishes elects one sheriff and one coroner, except Orleans Parish, which elects both a civil and criminal sheriff. Sheriffs and coroners serve for 4 years.

School Districts: There are 66 school districts administered by 66 public school boards. The 683 school board members are elected to concurrent 4-year terms.

Special Districts: Louisiana has 260 independent special districts. Most special district board members are appointed.

MAINE

1 Black Elected Official

Population: The total population of Maine is 1,227,928; the black population is 5,138, or 0.4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 906,000; and the black voting age population is 700. The total number of registered votes is 736,000. The number of black registered voters is 600.

Federal: Maine has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each district is less than one percent.

State: The state Senate has 35 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. The House has 151 seats; members are elected from 151 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Augusta.

County: There are 16 counties in Maine and 48 governing board members. Board members are elected by district. Three county commissioners, elected for 4-year terms, serve each county.

Municipal: There are 22 governments classified as cities, 424 as ownships, and 51 as plantations. Towns are governed by boards of selectmen, and plantations are governed by boards of assessors. Most municipalities hold annual elections.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 7 supreme judicial court judges, 16 superior court judges, 25 district court judges, and 16 probate judges. With the exception of probate judges, all are appointed to 7-year terms by the governor (with consent of the Senate). Probate judges are elected in their counties and serve 4-year terms. Sixteen sheriffs are elected to 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 98 school district governments and 195 dependent public school systems. Several types of school boards serve the school systems in Maine. These include 194 municipal boards, 75 school administrative district boards, 13 community school district boards, 3 native American reservation boards, and 2 regional vocational boards. The 1,800 school board members in the state are elected for 3-year terms on a rotating basis.

Special Districts: There are 195 special districts in Maine served by 392 elected board members.

MARYLAND

132 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Maryland is 4,781,468; the black population is 1,189,899, or 25 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,507,000; and the black voting age population is 956,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,918,000; the number of black registered voters is 424,000.

Federal: Maryland has 8 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Seventh District (West Baltimore), which is 77 percent black. Four other districts contain black populations of more than 10 percent: the Fifth District (Prince George's County), 47 percent; the Fourth District (Annapolis), 24 percent; the First District (Chesapeake Bay), 17 percent; and the Third District (East Baltimore), 21 percent.

State: The Maryland General Assembly has 47 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 141 seats in the House of Delegates; members are elected from 47 districts. All legislators serve 4-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Annapolis.

County: There are 23 counties in Maryland and 107 governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. County councils exist in 8 home-rule counties, and boards of county commissioners exist in 11 counties. The counties of Kent, Worcester, Caroline, and Allegany are home-rule counties and are also governed by boards of commissioners. Baltimore City is an independent city and is separate from Baltimore County.

Municipal: Maryland has 154 municipalities and 721 governing body members. Most board members serve 4-year terms.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Most of the 210 judgeship positions are initially filled by gubernatorial appointment. They subsequently run for retention on nonpartisan ballots after at least one year of service. The seven judges on the court of appeals, however, are designated by the governor to 10-year terms. There are 13 judges on the special court of appeals and 109 circuit court judges. District court judges are appointed to 10-year terms, and the 66 orphan's court judges are elected in partisan elections to 4-year terms. Maryland has 73 courts. In addition, registrars of wills, who serve as clerks of the orphan's courts, are elected. There are 24 elected sheriffs.

School Districts: School districts in Maryland are not independent administratively and fiscally; they are administered by each of the 24 county boards of education. Ten of the 24 school districts in Maryland elect school board members. Each of these districts elects 3 to 9 board members to 4- or 6-year terms.

Special Districts: The 264 special districts in Maryland are governed by 579 elected board members.

MASSACHUSETTS

31 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Massachusetts is 6,016,425; the black population is 300,130, or 5 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,486,000; and the black voting age population is 159,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,110,000; the number of black registered votes is 73,000.

Federal: Massachusetts has 11 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Boston-Taunton), with a black population of 17 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents.

State: The Massachusetts General Court convenes in Boston; it comprises 40 seats in the Senate and 160 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts and serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 14 counties in Massachusetts. With the exceptions of Nantucket and Suffolk, each county is administered by a 3-member board of commissioners and a county finance board. Commissioners are elected within each county. The finance board is comprised of representatives from all cities and towns within a county. Nantucket and Suffolk lack distinctly organized county governments. The area and governing body of Nantucket are identical to that of Nantucket town. Suffolk County is consolidated with the city of Boston.

Municipal: Massachusetts has 39 municipal and 312 township governments. Three are 390 councilmembers serving on the municipal governing boards and 1,105 selectmen serving on the township boards. Councilmembers generally serve 2-year terms, and selectmen, one- to 3-year terms. The minimum population requirements for municipal incorporation is 12,000.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Massachusetts has 95 courts. There are 6 supreme judicial court judges, 13 appeals court judges, and

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

281 trial court judges. Judges are appointed for life or until they reach 70 years of age. One sheriff is elected for each of the 14 counties, and at least one constable is either elected or appointed for each city and town.

School Districts: According to state law, 2 or more towns may establish regional school districts. There are 81 such districts, which are administratively and fiscally independent. Of the 81, 54 of these are Academic Regions and the other 27 are Vocational Regions. The other 357 school systems in Massachusetts are considered agencies of town, city, or county governments. The number of school board members varies from board to board, and there is no uniform term of service.

Special Districts: Massachusetts has 391 special districts and 1,154 elected board members.

MICHIGAN

305 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Michigan is 9,295,297; the black population is 1,291,706, or 14 percent of the total; total voting age population is 6,745,000; and the black voting age population is 903,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,776,000; the number of black registered voters is 615,000.

Federal: Michigan has 18 congressional districts. The First District (Detroit-Highland Park) is 80 percent black. The Thirteenth District, which contains the inner city of Detroit, is 79 percent black. Other districts with significant black percentages are the Seventh (Flint) and Seventeenth (Detroit-Southfield), 17 and 25 percent black, respectively.

State: The Michigan legislature convenes in Lansing; it comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 110 seats in the House of Representatives. All House and Senate members represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 83 counties in Michigan. All 722 county commissioners, who serve 2-year terms, are elected by district.

Municipal: The 534 cities and villages in Michigan comprise its municipalities. In addition, Michigan has 1,242 townships. Approximately 3,700 governing board members are elected to serve 4-year terms. The minimum population required for incorporation is 2,000 for a city and 150 for a village.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Michigan has 244 courts and 581 judgeship positions. There are 7 supreme court judges, 18 court of appeals judges, 167 circuit court judges, and 29 recorder's court judges in Detroit. All judges are elected in nonpartisan elections. Most serve 6- to 8-year terms. There are 83 elected sheriffs, one authorized for each county. Up to four constables are authorized for each township.

School Districts: All of the 565 local school districts in Michigan are independent administratively and fiscally. There are also 29 community college districts and 13 state supported 4-year colleges and universities. The number of members serving on boards varies, but most boards have 7 members who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held annually, in June, or during the odd-year general election.

Special Districts: Michigan's 184 special districts are governed by 355 elected board members.

MINNESOTA

13 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Minnesota is 4,375,099; the black population is 94,944, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,202,000; and the black voting age population is 66,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,649,000; the number of black registered voters is 30,000.

Federal: Minnesota has 8 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Minneapolis) is 10 percent black and contains over half of the state's black population.

State: The Minnesota legislature comprises 67 seats in the Senate and 134 seats in the House of Representatives; all members of the House and Senate represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in St. Paul.

County: There are 87 counties and 445 governing board members, all elected by district. All commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 855 municipalities in Minnesota, including 107 home-rule cities and 748 statutory cities. In addition, there are 1,800 townships. The municipalities and townships are governed by 9,040 elected board members, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Most cities hold elections in November.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 7 supreme court judges, 18 court of appeals judges, 167 circuit court judges, 72 district court judges, 108 county court judges, and 28 municipal court judges. Most serve 6-year terms. One sheriff and one coroner are authorized for each of the 87 counties (one county appoints its coroner). Two constables are authorized for each township. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms and constables, 2-year terms.

School Districts: The 430 school districts in Minnesota are independent administratively and fiscally; they are served by 2,750 board members, elected to 3-year terms. Elections are generally held annually, in May.

Special Districts: The 356 special districts are governed by 618 elected board members.

MISSISSIPPI

690 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Mississippi is 2,573,216; the black population is 915,057, or 35 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,821,000; and the black voting age population is 553,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,290,000; the number of black registered voters is 395,000.

Federal: Mississippi has 5 congressional districts. Each has a substantial percentage of black residents. The Second and Fourth districts (Mississippi Delta and Jackson) contain the largest percentages of blacks, 59 and 45 percent, respectively. The First District (Tupelo) is 24 percent black, the Third District (Meridian) is 32 percent black, and the Fifth District (Gulfport-Biloxi) is 19 percent black.

State: The legislature, which convenes in Jackson, comprises 52 seats in the Senate and 122 seats in the House of Representatives. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

County: There are 82 counties in Mississippi, each of which is divided into five districts. Supervisors are elected from each district to serve on the county's board of supervisors, and each of the state's 410 supervisors serves a 4-year term.

Municipal: Mississippi has 293 municipalities and 1,400 governing board members. Municipalities can incorporate as cities or towns. In order to do so they must have minimum populations of 2,000 or 300, respectively. Elections for municipal officers are generally held in June. Governing board members usually serve 4-year terms.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The Mississippi judicial system consists of the supreme, chancery, circuit, family, county, municipal, and justice courts. Chancery court judges are authorized as chancellors and justice court judges as justices of the peace.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

There are approximately 550 judgeships. There are 9 supreme court judges, 40 chancery court judges, and 35 circuit court judges. Supreme court judges are elected to 7-year terms. Chancery, justice and circuit court judges serve for 4 years. Municipal court judges are appointed and serve at the will of the municipality. Serving for 4 years each are 82 sheriffs and 82 coroners (one elected per county), 415 constables (one elected per justice court district), and municipal marshals, who are elected to the position in the absence of a police force.

School Districts: There are 154 school districts in Mississippi, including 68 county unit school districts, 28 consolidated school districts, 53 municipal school districts, and 5 special municipal separate school districts. Approximately 585 elected school board members serve on governing bodies. County unit school board members are elected to 6-year terms. Consolidated school board members are elected at large to 5-year terms. Municipal separate school boards appoint and elect board members.

Special Districts: There are 315 special districts served by 267 elected board members.

MISSOURI

175 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Missouri is 5,117,073; the black population is 548,208, or 11 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,785,000; and the black voting age population is 350,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,504,000; the number of black registered voters is 223,000.

Federal: Missouri has 9 congressional districts. The First District, which includes the northern part of St. Louis, is 56 percent black. The Fifth District (Kansas City) is 26 percent black.

State: The Missouri General Assembly comprises 34 seats in the Senate and 163 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators are elected for 4-year terms; representatives for 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Jefferson City.

County: There are 114 counties and 354 elected governing board members. Most board members are elected by district and serve 2- or 3-year terms. Counties are divided into 4 categories on the basis of their total assessed valuation.

Municipal: Missouri has 934 municipalities and 325 townships. The minimum population requirement for city incorporation is 500 residents. Villages are incorporated municipalities with less than 500 inhabitants. Cities with more than 5,000 residents may adopt charters for their own government and become constitutional charter cities. Other municipalities are divided into 2 classes. At the time of incorporation third-class municipalities must have 3,000 or more residents. Fourth-class municipalities must have 500 to 3,000 residents. First- and second-class city classifications were abolished in 1975. The municipalities are governed by 5,366 elected councilmembers, aldermen, and trustees. All elections are held during the spring. Terms of office vary among municipalities.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The 531 courts in Missouri are served by 547 judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 32 court of appeals judges, and 133 circuit court and 170 associate circuit court judges. Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are appointed for 12-year terms. With the exception of supreme and circuit court judges in the city of St. Louis and a few counties, all judges are elected on a partisan ballot. In addition, there are 114 elected sheriffs and coroners—one authorized for each county—who serve 4-year terms. One constable is authorized for each magistrate district. One marshal is elected for municipalities with populations of 10,000 to 30,000 in first-class counties, in third-class mayor-council cities, and in fourth-class cities.

School Districts: Missouri has 545 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are 3,280 school board members, all elected. Boards generally have 6 members, serving 3-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 1,195 special districts and 3,082 elected board members.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

2 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of New Hampshire is 1,109,259; the black population is 7,198, or 0.6 percent of the total; total voting age population is 831,000; and the black voting age population is 5,000. The total number of registered voters is 523,000.

Federal: New Hampshire has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each is no more than one percent.

State: New Hampshire has 24 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 400 seats in the House are filled from 161 districts. All members of the General Court serve 2-year terms. The General Court convenes in Concord.

County: There are 10 counties and 30 county commissioners in New Hampshire. Most commissioners are elected by district to 2-year terms. Four counties elect commissioners at large; 2 of those counties have district residence requirements.

Municipal: Thirteen cities, which have been established by legislative act, represent New Hampshire's municipalities. There are also 224 townships. About 2,400 officials serve on municipal governing boards. Most elections are held in the spring; however, the frequency varies by municipality.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The 73 courts in New Hampshire are served by 125 judgeship positions. There are 5 supreme court judges, 25 superior court judges, 84 district court judges, and 11 municipal court judges. All judges are appointed and serve until age 70. The registrar of probate for each probate court is elected and serves 2 years. One sheriff is elected for a 2-year term in each county. One elected constable is authorized for each town.

School Districts: Of the 170 school districts, 161 are independent fiscally and administratively. There are 788 board members, who serve 3-year terms. All are elected.

Special Districts: There are 113 special districts governed by 299 elected board members.

NEW JERSEY

213 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of New Jersey is 7,730,188; the black population is 1,036,825, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 5,831,000; and the black voting age population is 709,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,549,000; the number of black registered voters is 350,000.

Federal: New Jersey has 14 congressional districts. The Tenth District (Newark) has the largest percentage of blacks, 64 percent. The First (Camden), Second (Atlantic City-Vineland), Fourth (Trenton), Seventh (Elizabeth), Eighth (Paterson), and Fourteenth (Jersey City) districts have black populations between 13 and 17 percent.

State: The state legislature is composed of a Senate and a General Assembly. The Senate has 40 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 80 General Assembly seats; members represent 40 districts. Senators are elected the year following the U.S. Census and serve 2-year terms. When re-elected after the first 2 years, senators serve 4-year terms until after the next Census, when the process is repeated. Members of the Assembly serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Trenton.

County: There are 21 counties and 137 members of governing boards, which are called boards of chosen freeholders. Members, called freeholders, are generally elected at large to 3-year terms except in Atlantic, Essex, and Hudson counties, which elect some freeholders by district.

Municipal: There are 567 municipalities designated as cities, towns, boroughs, villages, and townships. There are 3,028 elected members of municipal governing boards. Election schedules vary in cities, towns, and boroughs. Elections in most townships are held annually. There is some flexibility in the type of government a municipality may choose, but all municipalities are governed by some form of municipal council.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Most of New Jersey's judgeships are appointive. There are 630 courts. In addition, there are 7 supreme court judges, 28 judges in the appellate division of the superior court, 321 superior court judges, and 8 tax court judges. Municipal judges are appointed for 3-year terms, and tenured judges serve until age 70. There are 21 elected sheriffs.

School Districts: There are 592 school districts in New Jersey, served by 4,841 elected school board members. Board members serve 3-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 437 special districts governed by 600 board members.

NEW MEXICO

4 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of New Mexico is 1,515,069; the black population is 30,210, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,062,000; and the black voting age population is 29,000. The total number of registered voters is 630,000; the number of black registered voters is 19,000.

Federal: New Mexico has 3 congressional districts. District Two (Las Cruces) has the largest black population, 3 percent.

State: The legislature has 42 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 70 members of the House of Representatives are also elected from single-member districts. State senators serve terms of 4 years; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Santa Fe.

County: There are 33 counties and 108 county commissioners. All commissioners are elected for 2- or 4-year terms. Most counties elect 3 commissioners at large, with district residence requirements.

Municipal: There are 98 cities, towns, and villages, served by about 435 board members. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 150. In most places, elections are held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 199 courts and 230 judgeships in New Mexico. Five supreme and 7 appeals court judges, who are elected during statewide general elections, serve 8 years. Fifty-nine district judges are elected to 6-year terms. Probate judges serve 2-year terms. Magistrates and municipal judges serve 4-year terms. All judges are elected on partisan ballots.

School Districts: There are 88 school districts. School boards are independent fiscally and administratively. There are 459 elected school board members, who serve 4-year terms. The state education system is governed by a 15-member board of education. With the exception of 5 school board members who are appointed by the governor all school board members are elected.

Special Districts: There are 101 special districts served by 450 board members.

NEW YORK

277 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of New York is 17,990,455; the black population is 2,859,055, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 13,341,000; and the black voting age population is 1,764,000. The total number of registered voters is 7,608,000; the number of black registered voters is 859,000.

Federal: New York has 34 congressional districts. Five districts have black populations of 46 percent or more: the Sixth District (Jamaica Queens), 57 percent; the Eleventh District (Bedford Stuyvesant, Brooklyn), 50 percent; the Twelfth District (Crown Heights, Brooklyn), 87 percent; the Sixteenth District (Harlem), 49 percent; and the Eighteenth District (South Bronx), 46 percent.

State: There are 61 seats in the state Senate, with members elected from single-member districts. There are 150 seats in the Assembly, with members elected from different single-member districts. All legislators serve terms of 2 years. The New York legislature convenes in Albany.

County: Five counties, called boroughs—Bronx, Kings (Brooklyn), New York (Manhattan), Queens, and Richmond (Staten Island)—are substantially consolidated into one governmental unit as the city of New York, which is classified as a municipality. There are 57 other counties and approximately 1,600 governing board members, who are usually called legislators or supervisors. Board members generally serve either 2- or 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 62 cities and 556 villages classified as municipalities. In addition, there are 932 townships. There are more than 7,000 municipal governing board members. The minimum population requirement for incorporation as a village is 500.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 3,435 judgeships. There are 7 court of appeals judges, 47 judges in the appellate divisions of the state supreme court, and 484 supreme court judges. Most judges are elected and their terms vary. Judges for the court of appeals and the New York City Criminal and Family courts are appointed. There are 57 elected sheriffs; 63 elected and appointed coroners serve 3-year terms.

School Districts: There are 730 school districts of various types. Most are administratively and financially independent. Only 5 are classified as agencies of local governments. The total number of school board members in New York State is approximately 5,000; most are elected. New York State also has 41 Boards of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES), which were established to provide specialized educational services. The 369 BOCES board members are elected not by the public at large but by the component school boards, and are therefore not covered by the Roster.

Special Districts: There are 923 special districts.

NORTH CAROLINA

443 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of North Carolina is 6,628,637; the black population is 1,456,323, or 22 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,840,000; and the black voting age population is 1,049,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,032,000; the number of black registered voters is 631,000.

Federal: North Carolina has 11 congressional districts. The Second District (Durham) has the largest percentage of black residents, 40 percent. It is followed by the First District (Cape Hatteras), which is 33 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Goldsboro) and the Seventh District (Fayetteville), both with 27 percent; the Ninth District (Charlotte), 23 percent; Sixth District (Greensboro), 21 percent; and Fourth and Eighth districts (Raleigh and Salisbury), 19 percent each.

State: The General Assembly has 50 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 35 districts. There are 120 seats in the House of Representatives; members are elected from 72 districts. All legislators serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Raleigh.

County: There are 100 counties in North Carolina and at least 300 county commissioners. Most commissioners are elected at large. Only 8 commissioners from 2 counties are elected by district. Most commissioners serve either 2- or 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are approximately 500 cities, towns, and villages classified as municipalities. Approximately 2,300 councilmembers serve on governing boards for 2- or 4-year terms as specified by municipal charter.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 700 judgeships and over 200 courts in North Carolina. All judges are elected, except for magistrates and special judges of the superior court. The 7 supreme court justices, 12 court of appeals judges, and 74 superior court judges serve 8-year terms. Most constable, coroner, and marshal offices have been abolished. The 100 sheriffs serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 140 school districts, which are run by local governments. Of the 140, 100 are county districts, and 40 are city districts. The 58 community colleges in the state are administered separately by the North Carolina Board of Community Colleges. All county districts have elected boards of education. Of the city districts, half have appointed boards and half have elected boards. The state has 950 elected board members. Most school board elections are held every 4 years; terms are usually staggered.

Special Districts: There are 321 special districts, run by special boards, most of whose members are appointed. However, 452 board members are elected.

NORTH DAKOTA

0 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of North Dakota is 638,800; the black population is 3,524, or 0.6 percent of the total; total voting age population is 451,000; and the black voting age population is 2,000. The total number of registered voters is 408,000.

Federal: The state of North Dakota has one congressional district. Blacks are one percent of the state's population.

State: The Legislative Assembly comprises 53 seats in the Senate and 106 seats in the House of Representatives. The 53 Senate seats represent single-member districts; the 106 House seats represent 53 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Assembly convenes in Bismarck.

County: There are 53 counties and 221 county commissioners in North Dakota. Commissioners are elected by district to 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 365 municipal governments designated as cities. In addition there are 1,360 township governments. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation. Approximately 5,770 elected officials serve on municipal boards. Most cities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years, and townships hold elections annually.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: All 286 judgeship positions in North Dakota are filled by nonpartisan elections. The 5 supreme court judges serve 10 years; the 26 district court judges, 6 years; and all other judges, 4 years. There are 53 elected sheriffs.

School Districts: There are 310 school districts and 310 public school boards. North Dakota school boards have a total of 1,562 members, all of whom are elected.

Special Districts: There are 629 special districts and 2,952 elected governing board members.

OHIO

214 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Ohio is 10,847,115; the black population is 1,154,826, or 11 percent of the total; total voting age population is 7,980,000; and the black voting age population is 816,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,977,000; the number of black registered voters is 556,000.

Federal: Ohio has 21 congressional districts. The Twenty-first District includes Cleveland's East Side and has the largest percentage of black residents, 68 percent. The Third District (Dayton) has a black population of 20 percent. The First and Second districts (West Cincinnati and East Cincinnati, respectively) follow with black populations of 20 and 15 percent.

State: The Ohio General Assembly comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of both the Senate and the House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Columbus.

County: There are 88 counties and 264 county commissioners in Ohio. They are elected at large and serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 942 municipalities in Ohio classified as cities and villages. There are 1,495 townships. The townships are governed by 4,485 members of boards of trustees. Municipalities are governed by 5,890 councilmembers and commissioners, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 660 judgeship positions in 271 courts, excluding the mayor's court judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 53 appeals court judges, and 330 judges in the courts of common pleas. With 2 exceptions, all judges are elected to office for terms of 6 years. County court judges serve 6 years. In the mayor's court, the mayor acts as a judge for the length of his term. All judicial elections are nonpartisan. A sheriff and a coroner are elected to 4-year terms in each of Ohio's 88 counties.

School Districts: There are 615 school districts in the state. The 376 local school districts are part of 87 county school districts. All school districts have elected school boards. Most boards are comprised of 5 members elected to 4-year terms. A few city school districts have 7-member boards. School board elections are held in odd-numbered years and are staggered. In addition, there are 49 joint vocational school districts, whose board members are appointed. The state Board of Education consists of 21 members—one elected from each of the congressional districts; they serve staggered 6-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 377 special districts. Most board members are appointed; 488 are elected.

OKLAHOMA

122 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Oklahoma is 3,145,585; the black population is 233,801, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,313,000; and the black voting age population is 150,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,530,000; the number of black registered voters is 77,000.

Federal: Oklahoma has 6 congressional districts. The two districts with the largest percentages of black residents are the Sixth District (Oklahoma City-Enid) and the First District (Tulsa), with 10 percent each.

State: The Oklahoma legislature members are elected from 48 single-member Senate districts and 101 single-member House districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Oklahoma City.

County: There are 77 counties and 231 county commissioners in Oklahoma. All are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: Oklahoma has 584 municipalities and 2,290 governing board members. Councilmembers and aldermen, who sit on city boards, serve 4-year terms. Trustees, who serve on town boards, are elected for 4-year terms.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Oklahoma has 200 courts with 510 judgeship positions. The 9 supreme court judges and 5 judges of the court of criminal appeals are initially appointed by the governor and subsequently elected to 6-year terms. Twelve court of appeals and 199 district court judges are elected and serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Municipal court judges are appointed by each mayor with consent of a municipal governing body. There are 77 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 613 school districts and about 2,800 board members. Most of the school districts are administratively and fiscally independent; 155 are agencies of local governments. Members of independent school boards serve 5-year terms. Members of school boards that are agencies of local governments serve 3-year terms. Elections are held each year, in January and April.

Special Districts: There are 916 special districts and 1,631 governing board members.

PENNSYLVANIA

139 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Pennsylvania is 11,881,643; the black population is 1,089,795, or 9 percent of the total; voting age population is 9,102,000; and the black voting age population is 722,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,367,000; the number of black registered voters is 381,000.

Federal: Pennsylvania has 23 congressional districts. Two districts, each located in the city of Philadelphia, have substantial black populations. They are the First District, 35 percent; and the Second District, 81 percent. The Fourteenth District (Pittsburgh) also has a substantial black population, 24 percent.

State: The Pennsylvania General Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 203 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Harrisburg.

County: The 66 counties and 1 city-county are governed by 219 county commissioners, who are elected for 4-year terms. In 62 counties, the governing bodies are elected at large and members serve on 3-member county commissions. The counties of Erie, Lehigh, Northampton, Delaware, and Lackawanna have home rule and a county council. The city-county of Philadelphia is counted as a municipality.

Municipal: There are 2,573 municipalities in Pennsylvania, including 53 cities, 968 boroughs, and 1,552 townships. Approximately 12,148 municipal board members are elected and serve 4- or 6-year terms. Municipalities may adopt home-rule charters that allow them to determine the structure of their own government and what services it will perform. Elections are held in November of odd-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 923 judgeship positions and 368 courts in Pennsylvania. Most judges, including the 7 on the supreme court, 15 on the superior court, 9 on the commonwealth court, and 330 on the court of common pleas, are elected in partisan elections to serve 10-year terms. District court, municipal court, and Philadelphia traffic court judges serve 6 years. There are 66 sheriffs and 65 coroners, all elected to 4-year terms; 3,500 constables are elected, serving 6-year terms.

School Districts: There are 501 school districts. With the exception of Philadelphia, all of these districts have elected boards, each of which has 9 members. The board of Philadelphia is appointed. Elections are held every 2 years, during the November municipal election.

Special Districts: The 2,050 special districts or authorities are governed by appointed board members.

SOUTH DAKOTA

2 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of South Dakota is 696,004; the black population is 3,258, or 0.5 percent of the total. The total voting age population is 493,000; and the black voting age population is 3,000. The number of registered voters is 366,000; the number of black registered voters is 2,000.

Federal: South Dakota has one congressional district. Blacks constitute less than one percent of the population.

State: The legislature comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 70 seats in the House of Representatives; members of the Senate and the House are elected from 35 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Pierre.

County: There are 66 county governments; 14 elect commissioners at large and 52 elect commissioners by district. The 304 county commissioners are elected to 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 310 municipalities, governed by 1,555 board members. In most municipalities, elections are held annually.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: The state Judicial Department was reorganized in 1975 when district, county, municipal, justice-of-the-peace, and police magistrate courts were abolished. There is now one supreme court with 5 judges, and 8 circuit court systems. Circuit courts have 35 judges, who are elected to 8-year terms. A magistrate division of the circuit courts was established and there are 94 magistrates, who are appointed. Each county elects a sheriff and a coroner for 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 191 school districts and approximately 1,100 elected board members. School board members serve 3-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 199 special districts and authorities; they are served by 681 elected board members.

TENNESSEE

163 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Tennessee is 4,877,185; the black population is 778,035, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,638,000; and the black voting age population is 522,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,324,000; the number of black registered voters is 357,000.

Federal: Tennessee has 9 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Memphis) is 65 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Chattanooga), which is 12 percent black; the Fifth District (Nashville), which is 22 percent black; the Seventh District (Shelby County East), which is 12 percent black; and the Eighth District (Shelby County North), which is 23 percent black.

State: The General Assembly, which convenes in Nashville, comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. All members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 95 counties. In most counties, the governing body is the board of county commissioners. All board members are elected by district following a 1974 U.S. Supreme Court decision. There are about 1,705 county governing board members, who serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 336 municipalities and approximately 1,600 elected governing board members, who serve 2- and 4-year terms. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 200. The consolidated Nashville-Davidson County Metropolitan Government is also counted as a municipality. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 148 trial and appellate court judges in Tennessee. Most judges serve 8-year terms. There are 5 supreme court judges, 12 appeals court judges, 9 criminal appeals court judges, and 33 chancery court judges. On the circuit court, there are 66 judges with civil jurisdiction and 26 judges with criminal jurisdiction. There are 95 elected sheriffs and one constable per district. They serve 4-year terms.

School Districts: There are 141 school districts in Tennessee. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are approximately 954 elected school board members.

Special Districts: There are 469 special districts and authorities. Most board members are appointed; however, 570 members are elected.

TEXAS

298 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of Texas is 16,986,510; the black population is 2,021,632, or 12 percent of the total; total voting age population is 12,010,000; and the black voting age population is 1,477,000. The total number of registered voters is 7,252,000; the number of black registered voters is 886,000.

Federal: Texas has 27 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Eighteenth District, which is 35 percent black and includes the city of Houston. Two other districts with substantial black populations are the Twenty-fourth District (Dallas-South), 29 percent, and the Twenty-fifth District (Houston-South), 24 percent.

State: The Texas legislature has 31 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The House of Representatives has 150 members, all elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives, 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Austin.

County: There are 254 counties, each governed by a county board called a commissioner's court. Each county elects 5 members—4 district members and one at-large member. All members serve 4-year terms.

Municipal: There are 1,150 incorporated cities, villages, and towns. The minimum population required to incorporate is 201. Most municipal elections are held annually.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are more than 2,900 judgeship positions in Texas. There are 9 supreme court judges, 9 court of criminal appeals judges, 80 court ~~of civil~~ appeals judges, and 347 district court judges. All judges are elected, with the exception of some members of the municipal courts, who are appointed by the municipal governing body. The terms of municipal court judges vary in length from one year to an indefinite period; terms of other court judges are specifically for 4 or 6 years. There are 254 elected sheriffs and approximately 750 constables in Texas. All serve 4-year terms. In some cases, one marshal is elected for each municipality.

School Districts: There are 1,091 school districts in Texas, including 47 college districts, which are administratively and financially independent. Approximately 7,500 persons serve on the school boards. All are elected, and 90 percent serve 3-year terms. Others serve for 6 years. Most school board elections are held each April.

Special Districts: There are 1,681 special districts in Texas and 7,585 board members; 4,912 members are elected.

UTAH

1 Black Elected Official

Population: The total population of Utah is 1,722,850; the black population is 11,576, or 0.7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,063,000; and the black voting age population is 4,000. The total number of registered voters is 649,000; the number of black registered voters is 3,000.

Federal: Utah has 3 congressional districts. The black population of each district is one percent or less.

State: The Utah legislature, which convenes in Salt Lake City, comprises 29 seats in the Senate and 75 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 29 counties in Utah. Counties are grouped into 6 categories based on their assessed valuations. First-class counties, which have the highest valuation, are assessed at $150 million or more. In contrast, sixth-class counties are valued at less than $5 million. There are 87 county commissioners, most of whom are elected at large. They serve 2- or 4-year terms.

Municipal: Utah's 226 municipalities are governed by 1,253 board members, who serve for 4 years. Municipalities are classified by population size. First-class cities have at least 100,000 residents. Second-class cities have 60,000 to 99,999 residents. Third-class cities have populations of 800 to 59,999. The minimum requirement for municipal incorporation is 100 people. Municipal elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are about 125 judgeship positions and 120 courts in Utah. Along with circuit court judges, 5 supreme, 7 appeals, and 29 district court judges are initially appointed by the governor. Supreme court judges serve for 10 years; district and circuit court judges serve for 6 years. Justice court judges serve for 4 years and are elected in each precinct, except in towns, where justices of the peace are appointed. There are 29 elected sheriffs in Utah. All serve 4-year terms. Utah has no elected coroners.

School Districts: There are 40 school districts, one in each county and one in first- and second-class cities. In addition, some populous counties have more than one school district. County and city districts have elected boards. There are about 200 board members. All serve 4-year terms.

Special Districts: There are 211 special districts, governed by 426 elected board members.

VERMONT

2 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Vermont is 562,758; the black population is 1,951, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 425,000; the black voting age population is 2,000. The total number of registered voters is 316,000; the number of black registered voters is 1,000.

Federal: The state of Vermont constitutes one congressional district.

State: The General Assembly, which convenes in Montpelier, has 30 seats in the Senate and members are elected from 13 districts. There are 150 seats in the House of Representatives and members are elected from 106 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 14 counties in Vermont and 28 assistant judges, who serve as the principal county administrators. Counties perform limited functions, chiefly maintaining the courthouse and county jail. Each county elects 2 governing body members.

Municipal: Vermont has 296 municipalities—246 cities and towns and approximately 50 villages—which are governed by 1,160 board members. Most municipal board members serve one- or 3-year terms. Elections are held annually.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 76 judgeship positions and 50 courts in Vermont. Five supreme, 10 superior, and 15 district court judges are appointed by the governor. These judges serve 6-year terms. Probate court judges and assistant judges of the superior court are elected and serve 4-year terms. Fourteen sheriffs, one per county, are elected and serve for 4 years. Each town elects one or 2 constables, who serve for one year.

School Districts: There are 276 school districts; all are administratively and fiscally independent. Approximately 1,300 school board members serve on elected boards. Their terms range from one to 3 years. Elections are held each March.

Special Districts: Vermont has 83 special districts governed by about 240 elected board members.

U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS

35 Black Elected Officials*

Population: The total population of the Virgin Islands is 101,809; the black population is 78,003, or 77 percent of the total; total voting age population is 66,382; and the black voting age population is 40,760. There are 38,668 registered voters.

Federal: The U.S. Virgin Islands, which include St. Thomas, St. John, and St. Croix, are a territory of the United States. In 1917, the islands were purchased by the United States from the Danish government for defense purposes. Virgin Islanders, who are U.S. citizens, are represented in the U.S. House of Representatives by one nonvoting delegate. The Virgin Islands constitutes one congressional district. The U.S. Department of the Interior appoints a U.S. comptroller for the islands.

Territorial: The legislature of the Virgin Islands is unicameral. It comprises 14 senators who are elected from the 3 islands and one senator elected at large. All legislators serve for 2 years. The governor and lieutenant governor serve 4-year terms. The governor appoints an administrator for each island.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: There are 2 court systems in the Virgin Islands, the federal court system and the local territorial court system. The U.S. District Court, located in St. Croix and St. Thomas, has 2 judges and 2 magistrates who are appointed by the president of the United States. The territorial court, which has a court in St. Croix, St. Thomas, and St. John, has 8 judges, all of whom are appointed by the governor with approval from the Senate. Territorial judges serve for 6 years or until a successor is designated.

School Districts: The Virgin Islands has 2 school districts, which are agencies of municipal governments, 34 public schools, and a 9-member Board of Education that is elected on a nonpartisan basis. The board is an agency of the territorial government. School board members are elected every 2 years, during the general election of senators.

*Includes officials holding more than one post.

Special Districts: There are airport, harbor, water, and power authorities. Board members for the authorities are appointed by the governor.

VIRGINIA

151 Black Elected Officials

Population: The total population of Virginia is 6,187,358; the black population is 1,162,994, or 19 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,482,000; and the black voting age population is 839,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,689,000; the number of black registered voters is 488,000.

Federal: Virginia has 10 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Portsmouth) has the largest percentage of black residents, 39 percent. Other districts with substantial black populations are the First District (Newport News), 30 percent; the Second District (Norfolk), 24 percent; the Third District (Richmond), 29 percent; and the Fifth District (Danville), 24 percent.

State: The General Assembly has 40 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 40 districts. There are 100 seats in the House of Delegates, whose members are elected from 100 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; delegates serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Richmond.

County: Virginia has 95 counties with 511 county board members. Most board members are elected by district to serve 4-year terms. Three counties elect members at large.

Municipal: There are 229 municipalities, including 41 cities that lie outside county boundaries and perform city as well as county functions. Towns incorporated after July 1, 1971, must meet the minimum population requirement of 1,000. Cities must have more than 5,000 residents. There are 1,360 municipal governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: All judges are elected by the General Assembly. Seven supreme court justices serve 12-year terms, 10 court of appeals judges serve 8-year terms, 122 circuit court judges serve 8-year terms, and 172 district court judges serve 6-year terms. There are 128 elected sheriffs. There is often one elected and one appointed sergeant per town.

School Districts: There are 139 school divisions, including 94 county school districts and 45 city school districts. City and county school systems, administered by appointed boards, are regarded as agencies of the city and county governments. There are approximately 913 school board members.

Special Districts: There are 83 special districts; 228 of the 505 board members are elected.

The total number of registered voters is 2,799,000; the number of black registered voters is 77,000.

Federal: Wisconsin has 9 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Milwaukee) has the largest percentage of black residents, 37 percent.

State: The legislature, which convenes in Madison, comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the Assembly. All members of the legislature are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

County: There are 72 counties and 1,882 governing county board members, who serve on boards of supervisors. Members are elected by district for 2-year terms, except in Milwaukee County, where members are elected for 4-year terms.

Municipal: Wisconsin's 188 cities are divided into 4 classes according to population. There are also 393 villages. In cities and villages, more than 3,500 aldermen and village trustees are elected to serve 2- to 4-year terms of office. The 1,266 town governments are governed by town boards of supervisors consisting of 3,762 elected members, who serve 2-year terms. Elections are held every 2 years, in April.

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Wisconsin's court system consists of a supreme court, court of appeals, 69 circuit courts, and over 200 municipal justice courts. The court of appeals is divided into 4 districts. There are 7 supreme court judges, 13 court of appeals judges, and 197 circuit court judges. All judges are elected on nonpartisan ballots. Supreme court judges serve for 10 years and court of appeals and circuit court judges serve for 6 years. There are 72 elected sheriffs and 66 elected coroners; all serve 2-year terms. One constable is elected per village, and 8 medical examiners are appointed by county boards.

School Districts: Of the 432 public school districts in Wisconsin, all except the Milwaukee city school system are administratively and financially independent. There are a total of 2,856 school board members responsible for governing the operation of these 432 school districts. Board elections are held annually, and most board members serve 3-year terms. In addition, there are 16 vocational, technical, and adult education area districts in the state.

Special Districts: There are 263 special districts and 144 elected board members. Most members serve for 3 years.
